I'm new to C++, can anyone give me a better explanation? A: Using _N as a variable name is known as an unused variable. This is a feature called an unused variable, which is where the underscore is used as a kind of variable name. It is a kind of variable that is allowed but not used. It is kind of like a hidden variable. Overcoming Challenges in the Prehospital Treatment of Patients With Severe Trauma. The high level of injury, multiple trauma, and lack of time in the prehospital phase for definitive treatment in the emergency medical services (EMS) transport vehicle are major challenges that may cause unnecessary death of injured patients. Innovative strategies for rapid stabilization and airway management to prevent cardiopulmonary arrest in the prehospital phase are required. A crucial factor in the early treatment of patients with trauma is the resuscitative medicine team (RMT). This team consists of a trauma surgeon, anesthesiologist, and an emergency physician. To prevent cardiopulmonary arrest and death of the patient during transport, the RMT must be ready and available. This article discusses the current RMT concept and practice in Germany and challenges to overcome. Analysis of mandibular bone density. Precise investigation of the bone mineral density (BMD) of the mandible was performed by peripheral quantitative computer tomography (pQCT) and two-photon laser scanning microscopy (2PLSM). Images were acquired with a wide-angle laser-scanning microscope on cancellous regions of the mandible. A significant increase of BMD was observed in the anterior cortical region in comparison with the posterior region of the mandible. No significant differences
