To be more precise, follow these steps: Open the working folder in your binary diff editor. Compare the working folder with the archive. Once completed, you will have a diff that includes all the differences between the 2 folders. Then you will see what has changed in a very clear way. In your case you only need to find the changed images between the two zip files. Then you do just the opposite of what you did with your photos. The present invention relates to a vehicle collision protecting apparatus for protecting a vehicle from a collision which may be, for example, so-called collision with another vehicle or collision with an obstacle such as a roadside guardrails. In order to protect a vehicle from a head-on collision with another vehicle or from a collision with an obstacle such as a roadside guardrails, various types of sensors such as radar (Radio Detection And Ranging) and infrared sensors have been employed. A vehicle collision protecting apparatus which employs the radar detects another vehicle by measuring the distance to the back of a vehicle by means of the radar, and protects the vehicle from a collision by controlling a driving system, for example, by applying braking force to a vehicle wheel (hereinafter, "braking control"). A vehicle collision protecting apparatus which employs the infrared sensors detects an obstacle by measuring the distance to the obstacle by means of the infrared sensors, and protects the vehicle from a collision by controlling the driving system, for example, by applying braking force to the vehicle wheel (hereinafter, ba244e880a
