A B C D E F G I. master systemQ: How can I skip line in multi-line with scanf? I have lines of data, and I wish to read them line by line with scanf: data1.txt: 100 200 10 120 200 I wish to read the data in first line like this: scanf("%d %d %d %d",&a,&b,&c,&d); I use getchar() to skip new line: ... if(getchar() == ' ') but it only work for the first line. how can I do something like this for all lines? data2.txt: 100 200 10 120 200 420 A: You might use fgets to read the whole file (if lines are separated by). then you can process the file one by one as suggested in scanf() behavior. fgets(line,sizeof(line),file_pointer); line[strcspn(line," ")] = 0; As a second option, you can read the whole file in one call, but as you don't know the size of the file, you need to specify its size. int sizeof(line) = strlen(file)+1; //file path, don't forget to add 2 slashes to file name. FILE *file_pointer = fopen(file,"r"); char line[sizeof(line)]; fgets(line,sizeof(line),file_pointer); Biff and the Magic of Life Biff and the Magic of Life is a science fiction novel by fantasy writer Glen Cook, first published in hardcover in 1987. The paperback edition came out in 1992. This book is one of the six novels comprising The Heralds of Valdemar series. Plot summary Rathmer, son of an extremely wealthy merchant, is a very successful businessman, despite his youth. He has been back at home for the last year, since his mother's death, and is bored and frustrated, stuck in a business he does not want to do. Rathmer's dad and his brothers and sisters are a bit older than Rathmer, so they are getting married. They go on a tour in
